

Nickerson
Lashes Out
At Wilson

HUNTSVILLE, Ala., June 27 (AP)—Col. John C. Nickerson Jr., standing every last inch of his ground, today accused Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson of "grave errors" in curtailing the Army's guided missile program.

"These are grave errors which greatly diminish our over-all combat powers — they are errors not likely to be balanced by corresponding Russian errors," added the 41-year-old field-grade officer in a defiant statement directed at Wilson, second only to President Eisenhower in American military power.

Thus Nickerson followed the same lonely path trod 32 years ago by Brig. Gen. William Billy Mitchell. His career was wrecked by his stubborn insistence that the then-infant air arm of the military was being dangerously neglected. Nickerson faces the same possible fate for his defense of the Army missile program.

Denied
However, Nickerson denied that he set out with the intention of becoming a martyr to a cause. He testified: "I never had any intention of inviting a court-martial."

He said he was concerned with national security. And he added that it was his conviction that the Army could produce a 1,500-mile range guided missile faster and more than 100 million dollars cheaper than the Air Force, to whom the sole assignment recently was handed.

On cross-examination, Nickerson acknowledged that he owed obedience to Wilson's directive. He insisted he did not intend to "pressure" Wilson into changing the curtailment order. Nickerson said he wanted to get all the facts before Wilson because: "I knew he was wrong."

Nickerson lauded Wilson's competence but said he didn't think the defense secretary was in possession of all the facts needed for a proper decision on the missile question.

Nickerson still was under cross-examination when the trial finally was adjourned at 5:55 p.m. for the night. He returns to the stand tomorrow, for more of the same calm but by no means gentle prosecution grilling.

Smile
With a quick, tight smile for his attractive wife, Nickerson took the witness stand in his own defense in the third day of his court-martial at nearby Redstone Arsenal, where the Army has developed its 1,500-mile intermediate range ballistic missile, the Jupiter.

Nickerson climaxed a 10-year-old interservice feud by using secret data in a fight to save the IRBM program for the Army after Wilson turned it over to the Air Force.

"I am as far out on a limb as I can get," Nickerson said ruefully. Then he accused Wilson of ignoring expert advice and bowing to pressure from the Air Force, the aircraft industry and Congress in his Nov. 26 memorandum of decision.

Canadensis Motorist Found Dead

CANADENSIS — Death due to an apparent sudden heart attack came to a resident of this area approximately at 2:30 a. m. yesterday.

Sturge Germain, 42, generally known as "Jerry", was found dead by Michael Perry, of this area, according to Dr. Harold Tattersall, Mountain home.

Dr. Tattersall pronounced Germain dead at 3:30 a. m. He estimated that Germain had been dead for about an hour at that time.

State Police, Mount Pocono barracks, were called immediately by Perry, a bartender at Clyde's Tavern, Buck Hill Falls, Canadensis. According to the police, Germain was dead in his automobile on top of Canadensis Hill. It was parked on the side of the road.

Dr. Tattersall mentioned that Perry had stopped because the car, although parked, had its lights on and the motor running. Perry had told the doctor that he stopped because he thought it might have been an out-of-towner who was in trouble.

Perry, the doctor continued, opened the door when the man did not respond to his knocking on the window. A check of the pulse told Perry that Germain was dead, and he called

State Police, Dr. Tattersall said.

Monroe County Coroner Dr. Charles Rushmore verified Dr. Tattersall's diagnosis that a heart attack had brought Jerry Germain's life to an end.

Germain, a bachelor, was a chef at Glenmere Hotel, originally from South America, he moved to Philadelphia many years ago, and had been a resident of this area for four years prior to his death. He is survived by his brother, Edward R. Hazell, of Philadelphia.

Germain had belonged to the Citizen's League of West Philadelphia, Monroe Lodge No. 513 IBPOE of W., Stroudsburg, and the Pocono Mountains Motor Club of Stroudsburg.

Funeral arrangements will be announced by the William H. Clark Funeral Home.

Loss Heavy
In Texas,
Louisiana

LAKE CHARLES, La., June 27 (AP) — Hurricane Audrey battered the Louisiana-Texas coast with a 105-mile-an-hour punch today as it smashed inland from the Gulf of Mexico. Unofficial reports pushed the death toll to 17.

Larry Stephenson, Civil Defense director for Lake Charles, said five were unofficially reported dead at Cameron, a town of 950 south of Lake Charles. Stephenson said about 250 were treated at Lake Charles hospitals, and 20,760 refugees jammed centers here.

A Coast Guard plane flew over the Cameron area shortly before nightfall and reported "a tremendous amount of destruction" with buildings demolished and the town under water. A spokesman said it appeared the battered town needed aid immediately.

A ship radio report reaching the Coast Guard said an offshore oil rig capsized about 20 miles east of the Texas border and five men were adrift on a raft. The report said the rig was owned by John Mecom Oil Co. The Coast Guard said it ordered a vessel to the area.

Stephenson estimated damage at Lake Charles at more than one million dollars.

The Red Cross said 168 of the injured at Lake Charles required hospitalization, although most injuries were minor.

Winds of 100-miles-an-hour velocity had sent thousands of coastal residents in the two states scurrying for higher ground. But the winds dropped to 75 m.p.h. early tonight and the U. S. Weather Bureau said they would continue to diminish as the center of the season's first hurricane moved toward northeastern Louisiana, northern Mississippi and Southern Arkansas.

The heavy downpours that accompanied the hurricane were due to continue as it moved inland.

Movement
The center of the hurricane had moved northeastward to near Alexandria, La., late today. Winds and rains diminished along the Texas coast.

Audrey, which since Monday had been churning its way across the Gulf of Mexico, virtually leaped upon the coast today.

Only last night, it was not expected to hit until tonight. But the Port Arthur Weather Bureau pinpointed its center as striking at 8 a. m. at Cameron, La., about 30 miles southeast of here.

The 50-mile-wide eye passed over Orange in the familiar pattern: hurricane winds, followed by dead calm, then renewed severe blow. At least nine men drowned when the 78-ton fishing vessel Keturah struck an offshore drilling platform near Galveston Bay last night during the storm. The Warren Fish Co., owner of the boat, had the names of eight known crewmen but still sought the name of the ninth man the captain had signed on before the ship left Pensacola. Another man drowned at Galveston in a strong undertow.

A utilities company foreman, Jerry Lee Bridges, 31, was electrocuted and two other men suffered shock when a broken power line charged a pool of water in Orange.

Security Bill
Passes First
House Hurdle

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—A bill that would largely nullify the June 3 Supreme Court decision giving defendants access to certain FBI records cleared its first legislative hurdle in the House today.

A Judiciary subcommittee approved the measure, introduced by Rep. Walter (D-Pa.), who is a Judiciary Committee member and also chairman of the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

Subcommittee Chairman Willis (D-La.) remarked, "So far as I am concerned, this is only the beginning."

He said the Judiciary Committee has "an obligation" to review the whole series of recent decisions by the court, including those of June 17, setting bounds for what congressional committees may do in an investigation, and those under which convictions of some Communist leaders were reversed.

Witnesses
Two Senate witnesses seized on one of these decisions today as grounds for refusal to say whether they were Communists when they had access to official government messages.

The two, appearing before the Senate Internal Security subcommittee, were Howard V. Trautman and Salvatore A. Testa, both of New York and both members of the American Communications Assn., a labor union which was kicked out by the CIO.

In the House committee, Rep. Truck (D-Va.) said the congressional review of Supreme Court decisions should not be confined to the decisions of what he called "Red Monday" but should go back as far as "Black Monday." This latter was his term for the 1954 decision day on which the court declared racial segregation in public schools unconstitutional.

In approving the Walter bill, which now goes to the full Judiciary Committee, the subcommittee passed over the similar but less drastic measure approved by President Eisenhower's administration and introduced by Rep. Keating (R-NY).

Total
The total number of "decisions for Christ" climbed to 24,093 as 445 responded to the evangelist's invitation tonight.

Graham introduced Rev. Howard Jones, a Negro pastor from Ohio, as a new member of his team. Jones recently has conducted meetings in Nigeria and Liberia.

Shower Dampens

MILWAUKEE, June 27 (AP)—One of the heaviest showers of the year in Milwaukee made the 1957 "parade of states" of the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce today the wettest in the history of the 37-year-old organization.

Marchers and spectators—police estimated the crowd at 50,000 to 60,000—were soaked to the skin.

Russia Issues Threat To West Germany's Future

MOSCOW, June 27 (AP)—The Soviet Union declared today hopes of German reunification can be buried if West Germany accepts nuclear armaments from the West.

In a note which appeared certain to have repercussions in the U. N. disarmament talks now going on in London, the Soviet Union told West Germany "nuclear armament of Germany and German reunification are irreconcilable."

A settlement of world political conflicts, which would include reunification of Germany, has been tied into proposals submitted to the London conference.

The United States has proposed a three-phase reduction of Soviet and U. S. armed forces, provided it is accompanied by an improvement in East-West political relations. The United States also has assured West Germany, which is not represented in the London talks, that it would be consulted on all measures undertaken to reach a disarmament agreement.

The Soviet note—handed to West German Ambassador Wilhelm Haas by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko—declared West Germany was setting itself up as an arbiter in the London negotiations. The note also accused West Germany of trying to make agreement on disarmament dependent on "certain conditions."

Court Upholds
Right Of Department

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—The State Department's right to require passport applicants to say whether they are or have been Communists was upheld 5-3 today by the U. S. Court of Appeals.

Four of the judges went much further and held that: (1) Confidential information may be used in passing on passport applications "when foreign affairs or national security is involved."

(2) Persons falling within the department's regulations barring passports to communists and others engaged in activities to advance the Communist movement "are not illegally denied any constitutional right if they are refused passports."

Denial
Five of the eight judges voted to uphold District Court rulings which backed up the State Department's denial of passports to artist Rockwell Kent and Dr. Walter Briebl, Los Angeles psychiatrist.

Kent and Dr. Briebl did not respond to the department's demands that they submit sworn statements setting forth whether they were or ever had been Communists and asking explanations of their alleged connections with certain named organizations.

New Church
Calls For
'One Flock'

CLEVELAND, June 27 (AP)—The United Church of Christ, born of a marriage of two long-separated Protestant bodies, today voiced its desire that all Christians be joined "in one flock, with one shepherd."

In a message to "the whole church of Jesus Christ throughout the world," the General Synod of the newly-merged denominations said:

"At this moment of the joyous new access of life imparted by the union, the United Church of Christ is stricken in conscience at its continuing separation from the rest of the church."

An official said the message was addressed to all churches—Protestant, Roman Catholic and Orthodox. This is in line with objectives stated in the merger plan describing Christ's whole church as greater than any one or all of them.

Closing Session
The message was adopted in a closing session of about 700 representatives of the Congressional Christian General Council and the Evangelical and Reformed Church which were united to form the new denomination.

Speaking of this merger, which brought together the British-rooted Congregational Christians with their "free church" practices, and the German and Swiss-derived E. and R. Church with its regulated structure, the message said:

"The union has been made possible because two companies of Christians have held and hold the same basic belief, that Christ and Christ alone is the head of the church."

Denominations involved in the merger have a total of more than two million members in more than 6,000 local churches. Other denominations already have indicated interest in the precedent-setting union, the first to cross historic Protestant lines.

O&W Sold
In Several Segments

NEW YORK, June 27 (AP)—The bankrupt New York, Ontario and Western Railroad was auctioned off in segments in Federal Court today for $10,031,820. The Interstate Commerce Commission had valued the road at 43 million dollars.

The once-thriving coal carrier's debts were estimated at between 75 and 80 million dollars.

James B. Kilsheimer III, who with Jacob Grumet is receiver of the railroad, said the question of who was first claim on funds remaining after administration expenses are paid remains to be determined in court.

Sections
One cheerful aspect of the sale was that interests which bought segments of the railroad from Norwich to Rome, Utica and Oswego voiced hope that part of the line would resume operation.

Sidney G. Rose of Cincinnati, high bidder for sections of the line extending from Cronwall through the Catskill Mountains to Scranton, said he did not plan to operate. However, he said that some railroads were interested in acquiring some sections for operating purposes.

The remainder, Rose added, probably will be sold for scrap. He would not elaborate.

Boy Injured When Struck By Auto

By Leonard Randolph

A SEVEN-year-old Stroudsburg RD 2 boy was in "fair" condition last night at General Hospital after he was injured when he darted in front of a car on W. Main St., yesterday police said.

The accident occurred at 3:45 p.m. in front of 1159 W. Main St., during a heavy rainstorm. Stroudsburg police identified the driver of the car as James J. Riley Jr., Tannersville, who is City Editor of the Daily Record.

Police Chief James McConnell said the boy—Paul Ford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ford, Stroudsburg RD 2—was playing with his brother, Gary, 8 and a girl, Kathy Leap, 6, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Leap, 1171 W. Main St.

The three children were playing in the gutter along the street (which is also Route 209) at the time, police said.

Shortly before the accident the three children started an attempt to dash across the street, police said.

Warning.

A group of people in a house across the highway yelled at them to wait, police said. The children waited until a large truck, headed west on the highway, passed them, police said. Then two of the children dashed across the street, the police report said, behind another truck and in front of the car.

The younger boy, who was behind the other two, also darted between the truck and the car driven by Riley, police said. Both vehicles were traveling east on the highway. Chief McConnell said that Riley swerved to avoid hitting the third child, but his car skidded on wet pavement.

The younger Ford child was hit by the right front fender of the car. He was knocked to the ground and rolled an estimated 20 feet, police said. The boy was lying in the gutter when the car stopped, police said.

General Hospital was called. The hospital ambulance arrived almost immediately.

At the hospital the doctor who examined the boy said that he had sustained "multiple cuts on the scalp and face and the lower legs" and a "possible mild concussion." The hospital said the boy's condition was "fair" and "improving."

The impact of the accident slightly dented the right fender in back of the headlight and caused a slight dent in the right headlight rim. A passenger in the car with Riley was listed by police as James H. Ottaway Jr., 19, of Buck Hill Falls.

Chief McConnell said that the accident occurred near the end of the heavy downpour of rain which hit Stroudsburg. McConnell said the rain had just "begun to slacken" when the accident happened.

State Outlines Plans For Temporary Traffic Route In W. Main St. Area

DISTRICT HIGHWAYS Engineer Theodore Rothermund yesterday outlined State plans for a temporary traffic crossing at Pocono Creek during coming construction of a new W. Main St. bridge.

In conference with Stroudsburg Council, Rothermund said that plans have already been drawn up for the crossing. He said he hopes to be able to have the plans to Borough Engineer Edward C. Hess before a Council meeting next Wednesday night.

According to Rothermund, the State plan calls for construction of a temporary crossing as an extension of Ann St. It would connect with W. Main across the creek.

Passenger Cars

This crossing would be used by passenger cars only, according to Harold Snyder, borough secretary. Truck traffic would be detoured up Route 611 at N. Ninth St. Trucks wishing to continue on Route 209 would cross back to that highway on Bridge St.

Eastbound car traffic would cut across the site of the new Calso station and down Stofflet St., Snyder said. Westbound traffic would pass through LeBar's Alley (at the Mobil station) and come out on W. Main. Each would be one-way traffic.

Snyder said that Council suggested to Rothermund that a protective clause be inserted in the contractor's agreement. He said that council asked that the contractor agree to have all material for construction of the permanent Pocono Creek bridge "on hand before starting work."

The borough secretary said that he had been informed this week that bids on the Pocono Creek bridge "will be opened about the third week in July."

HONESDALE, June 27 (AP) — An explosion and fire caused by escaping fumes from a truck delivering propane gas caused an estimated $10,000 damage at a summer camp in Wayne County near Damascus today. The truck driver, Rosario Piranio, 26, of Chester, N. Y., was burned on the face and body.

Camp Swannee officials said the driver had completed unloading his gas when the hose on the truck broke and escaping fumes ignited followed by the explosion.

County Amateur Radio Operators Contact 355 Stations In 35 States, Five Nations

CHARLES R. Baker, president of the Pocono Amateur Radio Club, reported last night that 17 Stroudsburg area "Hams" participated in nationwide field day exercises over the weekend.

Operating three transmitters from the Civil Defense training building near the Fire Tower on Mount Minsi at Delaware Water Gap, the amateur radio fans contacted 355 stations in 35 states, Canada, Puerto Rico, Canal Zone, Hawaii, and Germany.

The transmitters were kept on the air from 5 p.m. Saturday to 3:30 p.m. Sunday. Three long wire antennas were strung through the trees and two beam antennas were raised above the Civil Defense building, one with a rotator enabling it to be pointed in all directions.

A special food committee bought enough hot dogs to feed the crew over the weekend, but reported that an animal had stolen several cartons of the hot dog provisions. A bear spotted by one of the crew on Saturday afternoon is suspected.

Three operating positions were set up inside the building. One position operated on high frequency radio telephone in five amateur radio bands with 100 watts power and made 109 contacts with other field day stations in the United States. The second position operated exclusively on radio telegraph in four amateur short wave bands. A power output of 50 watts enabled this station to contact 148 field day stations, including one in Hawaii.

The third position, operated some of the time by novice class operators, with a power of five watts contacted 98 stations in the Eastern United States.

Amateurs participated in these field day exercises to gain experience in operating procedures, tuning transmitters and receivers, electronics theory, and the practice of setting up stations for emergency and Civil Defense work.

The total score of the club was 2,454 points. This is considered to place the Stroudsburg club in the upper third of the three-transmitter category in national competition.

After the weekend activities, the Pocono Amateur Radio Club last night elected new officers. The following members will be installed at the regular July meeting:

Herbert Kreckman, Mountaintown, president; Jack Wyckoff, East Stroudsburg, vice-president; Harriet Carlton, Delaware Water Gap, secretary; and Ernest Transue, Stroudsburg, treasurer.

Miller Holds Sway Over Last Meeting

MINISINK HILLS—Retiring Ettrousburg Lions Club president Harold Miller presided over the final session of his term Tuesday night at the club meeting here at Willow Dell.

Members of the club praised Miller for the innovations he has introduced and the progress of the club under his leadership. After Joe Farda, proprietor of Willow Dell, served his popular roast beef dinner, the business of the club was taken up.

A vote was taken to change the date of the Summer picnic at the home of Pardee Place from Tuesday, July 23 to Sunday, July 28, when it will be possible for the members to bring their wives and children. Third vice-president Paul Maxwell gave a report on flood relief and subsidiary activities. In closing, Miller cited the support the club had given to the Pennsylvania Shortway and the consolidation of the twin boroughs. He also announced an important meeting of the Board of Directors for Friday night at the office of Harold Snyder.

Next Step Up To Boroughs

Prompt action on a request from Dr. Maurice K. Goddard, secretary of forests and waters, is expected at separate borough council meetings in Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg next week.

The state official, in identical letters to Burgesses Hal H. Harris and Jesse R. S. Flory, urged that a public meeting or conference be set for Monday, July 8 to discuss the basic flood protection study for Brodheads and McMichaels Creeks.

A preliminary report on the local flood control proposal has been completed by an architectural engineering firm and copies of the report sent to both boroughs.

The Forests and Waters Department will take no further action, Dr. Goddard said, until "local interests furnish assurances of their participation."

As sponsors, the boroughs would be required to accept certain stipulations laid down by the department. As proposed, the project does not include a local monetary participation, Dr. Goddard said. Only costs incidental to the project, such as operation of pumping stations, would be borne by the local groups.

The boroughs are asked to provide lands, easements, rights-of-way, spoil areas and ponding areas; to order the removal or relocation of utility lines which interfere with construction; to install draining gates at sanitary sewer outlets; to provide areas from which clay for levee embankments and large stone for rip-rapping may be procured, and to agree to maintain and operate the project when completed.

Estimated cost of the basic plan is $3,155,660. There are three alternate plans, the least expensive of which would cost an estimated $2,485,100. All construction costs would be borne by the state with the prospect of federal reimbursement.

Need for adequate flood protection in the two boroughs was demonstrated in August, 1955. Since then, local authorities have cooperated fully with state officials in setting up a flood control program for the twin boroughs.

We are confident, therefore, both borough councils will give careful consideration to Dr. Goddard's request at next week's meetings and take whatever steps are essential to expedite the program.

Good Evening Ladies

Man Is Wife-Styled

By Ken Duval

It isn't often I have a problem to take to my marriage counselor, but when I do it's a lulu. So it was that when Jake took a look at my face he squinted at the stemware he was polishing and suggested politely that after I'd had two or three I should tell him what's on my mind.

Jake is not what you would call scientific, but he's sound and thorough when it comes to handling husbands who are in the dumps. It is not always that he can do anything about the problem except listen and, more often than not, that is what a husband wants. That, and sympathy which Jake has in abundance, being married himself.

"Jake," I said, "that certain party, whose name I will not mention in a barroom, she being a lady, has called me an old fuddy-duddy. This has hurt me deeply, she being no chicken herself, but the injustice of it all, the thing that has given me a trauma, is that if I am a fuddy-duddy, she made me one."

Jake said he didn't doubt it a bit and he cited Rory O'Toole, a very regular customer of the place, as an example of what a woman can do to a husband. As a strange coincidence, Rory had become a bum immediately after his wife called him a fuddy-duddy for the first time. I shuddered when I heard this.

As a warning to other husbands, I will set down here the story of what happened to me, just as I told it to Jake in complete confidence. It began about three years ago when, at certain party, after several days of shopping the furniture scores, found an easy chair to give me for my birthday. It is one of those deep, soft things, more like a tilted bed than a chair. Just to sit in it invites naps, especially when the television set is going.

After all these months of occupying this chair, its upholstery has yielded to pressure and now there is a wonderful impression of my anatomy in to which I fit like a glove. And a padded ottoman to this and you get a picture of male comfort unequalled in the palaces of the Agha Khan.

This is by no means the whole story. That certain party began making our Saturday evenings a joy to be looked forward to all week and by Friday I was bursting with anticipation and could hardly get through the day. She took to scheming up little surprises out of a book of hors d'oeuvres recipes, with shrimp to dip in wonderful sauces and spiced cheese bits. Moreover, she got chummy with the bartender at our smartest lounge and got some pointers on how to construct the perfect martini which makes those at the Waldorf-Astoria taste like a hastily thrown-together concoction.

While this was going on, I could hear the faint sizzle of beef on the slow grill in the kitchen, so cloying that my toes wriggled in my house slippers. Finally, with all this under my belt, my favorite programs going on the television set and at peace with the world, I always made some remark about how wonderful it all was and what fools people are if they don't discover that, properly managed, there is no place you can go that could equal home.

Then the blow fell. Right in the midst of my second martini I'm told I'm an old fuddy-duddy. I never want to go out anymore on Saturday nights, just sit around the house and stuff myself. We don't get invited anywhere anymore because we never go. Well, I can do as I please but she refuses to vegetate.

So, hoping to prove that I'm not an old fuddy-duddy, I announced that next week we would go out on the town, eat, drink, dance and be merry, which we did. The food was lousy, the drinks worse, the band terrible and I got sore feet from dancing. The people we met were, for the most part, neurotic bores trying to drown the image of their unhappy homes. We were merry, and also sick the next day. Maybe, I said to Jake, I really am a fuddy-duddy.

Jake said a man is pretty likely to be what his wife makes him.

Try and Stop Me—by Bennet Cerf

Two solemn-visaged Vermonters went fishing in an old launch. For three hours neither of them moved a muscle. Then the one forward became a bit restless. "Confound it, Seth!" grumbled his companion. "That's the second time you've shifted your feet in twenty minutes. Did you come out here to fish or dance?"

An Oklahoma wildcatter had two wells come in on a single day, promptly bought a double-level house, a costly car, and hired a butler. The first time he left his new house, the butler inquired, "Shall I leave the dim lights on for you, sir?"

"Heck, no!" roared the wildcatter. "Turn the dim things off."

Robert S. Allen Reports...

Mid-East Aid Cost Set

Washington, June 27—Initial cost of President Eisenhower's new Middle East policy is $118,000,000.

Of that, $67,000,000 is for economic aid; $51,000,000 for military purposes.

These funds were pledged by special Ambassador James Richards to the 15 countries he visited.

The actual total sought by these Middle Eastern states came to $2 billion—ten times the $200,000,000 which Congress authorized to finance the President's program against Communist aggression.

That's what Richards reported at a private meeting with the House Foreign Affairs Committee, which he formerly headed.

Other publishable highlights of his significant discussion are:

The nine countries getting the $118,000,000 are Afghanistan, Ethiopia, Iran, Iraq, Lebanon, Libya, Morocco, Saudi Arabia, and Tunisia. The bulk of the grants to them is for supporting their budgets, and paying, equipping and housing troops and police.

The other six nations, which also endorsed the President's policy and asked for aid, are Greece, Israel, Pakistan, Sudan, Turkey, and Yemen. For various reasons, Richards made no commitments on their proposals. Instead, they have been submitted for decision to Secretary Dulles.

No country got a commitment of any kind for U. S. military forces in the event of Communist attack.

This key question was repeatedly raised during Richards' tour of the Middle East. As an illustration, he cited the intent interest in the matter of the foreign ministers of Pakistan and Afghanistan.

"They asked me," Richards told the House Committee, "How are you going to help us against Communist aggression? What will you do? Will you send troops to fight in our mountains?" I told them I didn't know whether we would or wouldn't. It would depend on circumstances. In any event, it is up to the President to make that decision under the resolution passed by Congress.

Secret Agreement—Committeemen questioned Richards closely about this.

Rep. Marguerite Church (R.,

Ill.), asked about a reputed secret agreement with Israel. "The Israeli Ambassador told me and Rep. D. S. Saund (D., Calif.), at a dinner the other night," said Mrs. Church, "that if this country is invaded, he has definite assurances the U.S. would come to Israel's aid if asked to do so. That's quite different than the impression you have just given us."

"I know of no assurances given any nation that we would send troops to help them," replied Richards. "Throughout my trip, I told everyone we could not guarantee to send troops. They tried to pin me down at everywhere I went. But all I would tell them was, if you are attacked, we are on your side. We will do our utmost to help you in every way possible."

"That is as far as I went. I told them only the President could determine whether troops should be used. We don't make promises that we don't keep."

Rep. Saund inquired about the attitude of the six countries whose aid requests were not approved by Richards. "Won't they feel disappointed at being left out?" asked Saund. "What about Israel? It approved the President's policy."

"I don't think Israel was overly disappointed in not getting any of this money," declared Richards.

"Why was Saudi Arabia included in the nine countries that did get grants?" continued Saund. "Saudi Arabia is not going to be attacked by international Communism, and it is getting hundreds of millions of dollars in oil royalties. It's probably the richest country in the Middle East."

"These funds are for developing the port near the Dhahran oil fields," explained Richards. "That was promised by the President when King Saud visited Washington."

"Apparently these nations tried to dump all their problems into your lap," said Rep. A. S. J. Carnahan (D., Mo.). Richards heartily agreed. "They certainly did," he said. "They tried to bring up every problem, from the Arab refugees to Cyprus to the French-Algerian question. Time and again I would have to tell them the U.S. is doing its utmost to solve these problems through the UN. We are not taking sides on these issues."

"But we are helping them to fight Communist infiltration," asked Rep. Frances Bolton (R., O.).

"We made some of our large commitments on that basis," replied Richards. "For example: Some of these countries didn't even have sufficient police to handle their internal security. We furnished the funds for that purpose."

"We are supporting education programs in these countries to keep the Communists from taking over their school system," reported Richards. "In Iran, we are providing aid to improve deplorable pay and housing conditions for the army. It was absolutely essential to do that to combat Communist infiltration."

Area Resort Receives Display

by Jim Rile

Merry Hill Lodge, one of the most popular resorts in the Pocono Mountains, has gained national attention for its recognition of the form of an article appearing in the June issue of "Institutions."

The front page shows the "rope" setup near the entrance of the dining room-bar addition made to the resort recently.

Inside, the story deals with the color pattern and the thought of pleasure and comfort behind the entire operation at Merry Hill, which is located in Cresco RD as far as the mailman is concerned, and between Swiftwater and Paradise Valley by area natives.

Virtually every portion of the newest addition is covered by way of pictures and the story lightly covers the attractive notes of Merry Hill.

But, the story doesn't bring out the fact that the entire addition was planned by Vick and "Spike" Young, owners and operators of the resort.

The story also failed to note that "Spike" did much of the work himself.

But, it all adds up to more publicity for the Pocono Mountains.

Jackson Township Fire Co. is currently planning for its annual carnival which gets underway on July 8.

The firemen are currently building a new concession stand on their Readers property.

Opportunities Unlimited

Keep Busy, Mend Heart

By Anne Heywood

June is the month of marriages, but it is also the month of non-marriages—that is, engagements that are broken for one reason or another.

About this time last year, two girls I know went through this devastating experience. Both had planned June weddings, but both of them were—what used to be called—"jilted." The men just decided they didn't want to marry them.

The way they each reacted is the point of this story.

Became Bitter

Connie was heartbroken. On top of that, her vanity was demolished. She grew bitter and told her girl friends the whole heartbreaking story, down to the exact words with which he dealt the final blow. She warned them to trust no man and carried on as if he were the only person in the world who had ever suffered.

She got the family to send her on a trip to get over it, but she didn't get over it, largely I suspect, because she didn't want to.

Wrong Man For Her

When she returned, she knuckled down to snoring another husband, fast. She got one, but he was the wrong one for her. Now Connie is divorced and telling all her friends the heartbreaking details about that.

Betty, who had essentially the same problem, has recovered entirely.

She was engaged to a man she adored, the date was set, and then he up and fell for somebody else.

Betty, who had essentially she tried to convince herself that it was best to find out before the wedding than after. That was all comfort, but she clung to it the best she could. She didn't talk about her tragedy. She moved to another city for the summer, to visit her aunt who lived there and to go to typing school.

Keeps By

"I can't keep my mind on anything," she told me, but if I don't try, I'll go out of my mind. Some day I don't accomplish a thing, but at least I sit four hours a day in front of that machine, in a nice noisy room full of other typing students. And nobody knows me or my troubles, which is a blessing."

This June, Betty is in an interesting job and has a good many beaux, one of whom seems pretty serious.

As the Chinese say, "You cannot keep the birds of trouble from visiting you, but you don't have to build for them nests in your hair!"

Civil Defense Schedules Alert For Monroe County

Operation To Take Place On July 12

A NATIONAL Civil Defense test called "Operation Alert 1957" was announced yesterday by Judge Fred W. Davis, Monroe County Director of Civil Defense.

The test will take place Friday, July 12, and will run from early morning to midnight for all Civil Defense workers. Limited participation by the public of the Stroudsburg area will be required during the day.

The July 12 test includes in its scope all of the states, territories, and possessions of the United States.

Judge Davis called attention to the fact that a pretest public familiarization program will be carried out on Monday and Tuesday nights, July 8 and 9.

Precisely at 7:15 p.m., on Monday, July 8, and again on Tuesday, all Monroe County civil defense organizations will sound the long, steady "Alert," or "Attention" signal on local sirens, horns, and whistles.

"Take Cover"

The "Alert" signal will be followed at 7:30 p.m. on both days by a three-minute, pulsating "Take Cover" signal.

The only action required during the public sounding of the official "Alert" and "Take Cover" signals on Monday and Tuesday, July 8 and 9, will be for everyone to listen for and get to know the two "public action" signals. No other civil defense or public action will be required during this pre-test public familiarization program.

The official "Alert" or "Attention" signal is a long, steady, non-fluctuating siren, horn, or whistle blast lasting from three to five minutes.

The meaning of the "Alert" signal is for all citizens to listen for emergency information or instructions. These instructions will be publicly disseminated by radio broadcast, television, by public address systems, or other special means.

Signal

The official "Take Cover" signal is a three-minute long, pulsating, or warbling siren tone; a three-minute long series of short blasts on horns or whistles; or a combination of the two. The meaning of this signal is to take cover immediately.

According to Judge Davis, the purpose of the regular test and the special pre-test is threefold.

These tests provide an opportunity for the public to become familiar with the standard warning system, they test the effectiveness of state, county, and local warning devices and systems, and they provide an opportunity for the public to practice self-protection measures.

Civil Defense organizations in the area will also solve the theoretical mobilization and attack problems.

PORT KNOX, Ky., June 28—Pvt. Ronald J. Lyon, 22, whose wife, Ann, and parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Lyon, live on Route Three, East Stroudsburg, Pa., was graduated June 21 from the eight-week automotive maintenance helpers course here at the Army's Armor Training Center.

Lyon entered the Army last February and completed basic combat training at Fort Knox.

In civilian life he attended East Stroudsburg High School and worked for Harvey W. Huffman, of Marshall Creek.

Miss Pocono Mountains Enters State Competition

By Bill Berry

MISS Jeanne Poortstra, Miss Pocono Mountains, 1957, departed yesterday for the Miss Pennsylvania competition.

One of 22 contestants, Jeanne will spend four days in West Chester. The tournament is being held at Longwood Gardens there.

The young lady who is finally selected as Miss Pennsylvania, 1957, will compete in the Miss America pageant in Atlantic City later this summer, in addition to receiving a $2,000 scholarship to assist in her education.

Jeanne, who was sponsored by the East Stroudsburg Exchange Club, is a student at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College. She has also studied at the Karen Roth School of Performing Arts, and her talent routine — with which she won the local title on June 18 — features an "Around The World in 180 Seconds" dancing performance.

Tonight Jeanne will compete in the bathing suit event at Longwood Gardens. Tomorrow night she is vying for honors in talent, personality, intellect, and evening dress.

This year, for the first time since the inception of the state title competition, the contestants have been split into two groups, with half of them in each category — swim-suit and talent — on alternate nights.

She and her mother, Mrs. Raymond Poortstra, will be the guests of the West Chester Exchange Club. Mrs. Poortstra is acting as Jeanne's chaperone during the competition.

Pianist Roger Acker and drummer Robert Hartman, will accompany Jeanne at the competition, although they will not accompany her to the pageant. They plan to leave on Saturday morning.

Jeanne expressed her appreciation to Mrs. Robert Miller, who has run the Miss Pocono Mountain pageant, and the East Stroudsburg Exchange Club, which sponsored her.

Industrial Loan Terms Made Public

A LETTER from the Pennsylvania Industrial Development Authority approving a $40,000 loan to the Tru-Matic Machine & Tool Co. was received yesterday by William and Arthur Schiebel, co-owners.

The metal fabricating company plans to add 5,000 feet of floor space to its plant, located between East Stroudsburg and Ansonia. The proposed expansion will create 35 new jobs.

According to the letter, signed by William R. Davlin, chairman of the development authority, "construction should not be commenced . . . until agreement is reached with this authority, concerning terms of the loan and the placing of a performance bond for $50,000 with the PIDA."

Terms

The letter further stated that the terms of the loan will be for 17 years at two per cent interest for the first nine years, August, 1957 to August 1966, and four and one-half per cent for the last eight years, August, 1966 to August, 1974.

William Schiebel explained that final approval of the loan must be given by the directors of the Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce and the Board of Directors of the Tru-Matic Machine & Tool Co. A meeting of the Tru-Matic directors is scheduled for the second week in July.

The $40,000 loan was arranged by Monroe County Industries, Inc., and the Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce. It was tentatively approved June 20 by the PIDA in a letter to M. F. Crowe, president of Monroe County Industries, Inc., and the Chamber of Commerce.

Under terms of the by-laws the association will have a 30-member board of directors. They will serve three, two and one-year terms until the end of the first year. Then all directors will be named to three-year terms. Directors elected were these:

Three-year terms—Mrs. Cummings, Roger Dunning, Mrs. Ellsweig, Father Galligan, Mrs. Henning, Dr. Charlotte Jordan, Mrs. Claude Leister, Dr. Leitner, Rev. Luther Markin, Mrs. Musselman.

By-laws submitted by Mrs. Cummings, as head of the committee, were read and approved by the board. The nominations for officers and board members were presented by Dunning. Both were given unanimous approval.

Persons on the executive committee governing the association will be the officers and these heads of standing committees: Miss Brown, program; Mrs.

Leister, budget and finance; Dunning, nominations; Mrs. Giffillan, by-laws; Mrs. Stevenson, membership; Fr. Galligan, public affairs and Randolph, public relations.

The first major project of the association will be a county-wide survey to determine mental health problems and needs. This project was outlined last night by Robert Oliver, representing Pennsylvania Mental Health Assn.

Board members will meet again on Thursday, July 18 at 8 p. m. to prepare a foundation for the survey. That meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Larkin, Mountainhome. Oliver will attend that meeting as consultant.

Members also agreed that the board and any others interested in local mental health problems should take a tour through a mental hospital in this area. Purpose of the tour would be to acquaint workers with the problems confronting hospitals, with new methods of care and with the effect of these methods on return-home care for patients.

Charge Against TV

WINNIPEG, June 27 (AP)—Pierre Berton, managing editor of MacLean's magazine, says TV commercials have ruined some beautiful English words for discriminating use. He pointed out to an author's convention, for instance, that "wonderful" once meant "to excite wonder" and "amazing" was a word that "conjured up a picture in people's minds."

State Rejects Increase In Insurance

HARRISBURG, June 27 (UP)—The State Insurance Department today rejected a proposal to increase fire insurance rates in Pennsylvania.

Francis R. Smith, state insurance commissioner, said the department's study of proposed higher rates showed they "were not supported by credible statistical data."

Approval for the higher rates was sought by the Middle Department Assn. of Fire Underwriters on behalf of 357 fire insurance companies.

Smith estimated the rejected revisions would have amounted to a 2.6 per cent increase of total statewide premiums on coverage for houses, apartment houses, stores, business buildings, business stock and household contents.

Smith's decision said that the rates filed by the underwriters did not comply with the Fire Rating Act of 1947 requiring that the rating bureau show the revisions were not excessive or unfairly discriminatory. The department held several hearings on the proposed rate increases.

Examine New Paint Brush

A GOOD WAY to judge a paint brush is by the width of the wood plug strip at the base of the bristles.

If the strip is wide it means there aren't many bristles and that means the brush won't hold much paint. If the wood strip is narrow it means more bristles and this is all to the good.

Antique Finish

KNOTTY pine can be given an antique looking finish by first sponging the surface with a solution of ammonia. After the wood has become dry, sand lightly and then apply two thin coats of white shellac.

Bathtubs Feature New Safety Note

SO MANY people have been seriously injured in bathtub falls that the use of tubs with corrugated bottoms becomes a real long-range economy.

Enameled pressed steel bathtubs, made somewhat in the same way automobile fenders are stamped out, have such non-skid bottoms.

Light enough in weight for one man to handle, they are economical for installation and in colors they cost only about the same as white in heavier cast-iron tubs.

New Trend In Stains

ONE NEW trend in decorating forecast for 1957 involves a new floor stain which permits interesting color variations. There are some 160 colors in the present stain palette, among them tints such as aquamarine, coral, hunter's green, burgundy and jonquil yellow.

The growing trend to smaller floor coverings and wider areas of polished floors in contemporary decoration forecasts that the color stains should have wide use.

Choose Spot For Grapes

WHEN planting new grape vines, choose a sunny position where the soil drainage is good. Since the top of each vine after cutting it back to about one foot.

Curtains For Kitchens

THERE ARE several points to remember in choosing curtain material for your kitchen. It's best if it is color fast, has high resistance to fire, is soil resistant and deteriorates little with exposure to light and heat.

Landscaping Problem In Battle Against Moisture

IN PLANNING the landscaping of the area surrounding your home, remember that the planting of trees and shrubs sometimes has a bearing on excess moisture problems that may develop inside the house.

Wax Forms Film On Remover

MANY paint-and-varnish-removers contain wax which thickens the remover and forms a film on its surface.

The wax film retards the evaporation of the liquids, giving them more time to soften the paint or varnish. Let the remover stand until the finish begins to wrinkle. That's usually from 10 to 20 minutes. Then scrape off the old coating with a broad knife and deposit it in a metal can for disposal.

Another Coat

If any trace of the old finish remains, apply another coat of remover and rub the surface with coarse steel wool, working with the grain.

When your old coating is completely removed, wash off any wax residue that remains with turpentine, benzine or alcohol.

Bleach Halts Stains

STAINS can often be removed from plumbing fixtures by filling the fixture with water to which a small quantity of household bleaching fluid has been added and allowing the solution to stand overnight.

Sanding Necessary

STAINS on floors finished with a floor seal can be removed by sanding the area until the stain has been eliminated and then recoating with seal. When the seal is dry buff with steel wool.

Most obvious, of course, would be the cluttering of gutters, downspouts and drains with leaves.

Wrist Factor In Painting

FOR BOTH comfort and efficiency, it's advisable to hold a paint brush so that a free and easy wrist motion can be combined with motion of the arm and body.

Hold it firmly but lightly and maintain a uniform pressure—otherwise the bristles will wear down unevenly and be ruined.

Early Planting Best

MANY of the hardy annuals should go into the ground as soon as it is workable. Zinnias, petunias, salvias and marigolds are a few for early seeding.

Guard Against Shocks

ELECTRIC kitchen appliances should be beyond reach of the sink. A serious shock can result when someone with wet hands makes contact with an electric circuit.

Wet Basement Cure

A WET basement can often be corrected by sloping the lawn grade away from the house so water will drain away from the foundation.

Government Much Like Individual

WASHINGTON, June 27, (UP)—A government is a lot like an individual.

It seemingly will pour out money gaily in one spot, and then grimly count pennies in another, as if the national debt depended on this one economy.

So will a man buy an automobile with all the trimming, and then sprain his thumb trying to get another morning's supply out of his type of tooth-paste.

Trk thought, perceiving freely, wanders in today as a result of President Eisenhower's news conference.

Probably

The government probably has as much air conditioning per square worker as any outfit in the country. Filing clerks work in machine cooled breezes.

But when the President of the United States wants to hold a news conference, he comes out of the White House, crosses the street, and goes up to the fourth floor of the old State Department building.

Here he holds his conference in one of the most thoroughly un-air-conditioned rooms in America. For, possibly to aid the photographers, the windows are all pulled down and so are the blinds. The floodlights are turned on. And since the room is too small for the weekly crowd, the chairs are crammed together.

Today was warm and muggy, typical, alas, of Washington in the summer.

Inside it seemed like a cosy setting for a re-enactment of the Black Hole of Calcutta. Many a reporter shed his coat, even so, his shirt soon was limp.

Unfortunately, the nation's problems aren't likely to put one in a slippy frame of mind. What kind of battlefield will there be in a nuclear age? What about inflation? What about troops in Japan?

Talk

And when the talk gets around to the matter of the so-called bomb, your head, now covered with sweat, rebels. When you're being blown to smithereens, who cares whether the bomb that got you was antiseptic?

So it was a relief when, along toward the end of the conference, Eisenhower turned to what seemed like an especially appropriate subject—his vacation.

But even here the problems seem of vast magnitude.

Any vacationing president, Eisenhower said, has to find a place that includes a nearby airfield, a communications center, suitable housing for his staff and some kind of quarters for newsmen who accompany him.

In short, except for recreational facilities, he seems to wind up pretty much as he started. It isn't surprising that he hasn't decided where he should go.

Eisenhower arrived, looking jaunty, in a light tan suit, and wait a minute. It can't be true. But it was.

He wore a vest.

And on top of that, he kept his coat buttoned. Cool as a cucumber, that Eisenhower.

More than 651 million gallons of ice cream were produced in the United States in 1956, says the Department of Agriculture.

Sealers Often Assist In Saving Paint, Time

SURFACES which are relatively porous soak up large amounts of ordinary paint.

Sizes or sealers have the faculty of "bridging" the pores, or filling them at the surface, thus reducing the suction. As a consequence, these coatings are helpful in saving paint and in producing finishes of uniform appearance. The process of using them is spoken of as "sealing."

Solutions

Many sizes for plaster are essentially water solutions of glue or dextrin. In some cases, thin varnishes and lacquers are used. In order to combine opacity and sealing in the same coat, pigmented sealers are often utilized.

Color Major Issue In Kitchens

A BRIGHT and attractive kitchen, which somehow conveys the illusion that the sun is always shining there, is done in tones of copper, orange, yellow, white, blue and russet brown.

The walls and ceiling are painted a clear, sunny yellow, while the floor is covered with pumpkin-colored linoleum that is spatter-dashed in russet brown and white. Around the edge is a border in the solid brown. The baseboard is enameled to match and so are the kitchen chairs.

Frames

Doors and window frames are painted a gleaming white to match the wall cabinets and electrical equipment. Deep blue appears in the cut-out valance at the ceiling line, in towels and in a scatter rug.

Above the stove is an orange-toned spice cabinet that blends with treasured copper kettles.

Peet Moss Helps Trees

WHEN fruit trees are planted, considerable peat moss should be incorporated in the soil.

One pound of superphosphate and one-quarter of a pound of ground limestone per tree is also added.

A mulch should be kept over the roots of all young fruit trees; but the only kind that needs heavy pruning before it starts to bear is the peach—trimmed every year.

Weather Bad For Cords

EXTENSION cords and outlets suitable for interior wiring should not be used outdoors where they will be exposed to the weather.

If you want to have outdoor outlets be certain that both the outlet boxes and the necessary wiring is approved for exterior work.

Box Of Perfume

IF YOU would like a window-box of perfume, plant mignonette, lemon verbena, rose geranium and purple verbena. Be sure to place this where the fragrance is wafted into the house or out to the living porch.

New Plant Locating In Cresco

CRESO—A new industrial plant, which will employ 30 local residents, has been completed in this locality.

The Weiler Brush Co., formerly of Franklin Park, L. I., has moved to the Poconos.

The new building and the landscaping, according to Harold E. Heydt, Paradise Falls, cost approximately $100,000. Heydt, the contractor, mentioned that the landscaping will be extensive.

He could give no estimate on the cost of the new machinery.

Only four or five men, Heydt continued, will be brought to this area by owner Karl Weiler of Franklin Square. The contractor estimated that the 30 or so additional employees needed to run the plant will come from the Cresco area and environs.

The plant is expected to begin full-scale operation on or about July 15. At present, only partial schedule is being employed; a total moving operation begins on July 1 and continues until the 13.

Began in November of 1956, the construction of the plant—designed by architect Ed Crothers, of Buck Hill—has run smoothly, according to Heydt. At present, Karl Weiler, Jr., is in charge of the plant operations.

Association Urges Care On Highway

PENNSYLVANIA Motor Truck Assn. urged all who plan to be on the highway during the coming Fourth of July holiday to drive with care. "We cannot help but look on the forthcoming holiday with apprehension," said Edward Gogolin, General Manager of the Pennsylvania Motor Truck Assn. "because we know, that unless everyone who gets behind the wheel of a motor vehicle exercises more than the usual care, we are likely to see a repetition of the bloody toll of traffic accidents which has attended past holiday weekends.

Hurry
This toll of accidents represents a needless waste which could have been avoided by the exercise of basic common sense," Gogolin declared.

"Unfortunately," he said, "many of them will attempt to do too much in too short a time. They will be tempted to drive too fast and too far to get where they're going.

Employment On Increase In Monroe-Pike Area

WAGE AND salaried worker employment in the Monroe-Pike area is rising sharply, according to the latest labor market letter released by the Pennsylvania State Employment Service.

Conforming to favorable influences, normal at this season, estimated employment increased by 2,400 between mid-March and mid-May, bringing the total estimate to 18,000 on the latter date.

John P. Dougherty, manager of the PSES office in East Stroudsburg, said the May 15 employment level was practically the same that was attained on that date last year.

While most of the gains occurred in the service industry, principally in hotel and resort establishments, Dougherty said total manufacturing employment also reflected gains of approximately 200 during the two-month review period.

Light metal and apparel were the manufacturing industries where the favorable movements occurred. Ronson Corp., largest of local manufacturers, recalled approximately 200 employees and by the end of May had increased its employment complement beyond the firm's customary operating level.

The upward employment trend in the hotel and resort industry will likely continue to mid-July when peak will be reached, the PSES manager predicted.

Construction employment is somewhat lower this year compared with the two previous years, probably attributable to fewer new contracts being let in this area. Moderate employment increases are noted in retail trade which likewise is normal and seasonal.

A moderate decline in manufacturing employment is expected to commence this weekend and extend through mid-July. This is customary due to plant inventories and style changes.

Dougherty said three manufacturing plants indicate moderate plant expansion after mid-July and total manufacturing employment is then expected to increase by early Fall to approximately 100 greater than a year ago.

Demand for waiters, waitresses, cooks and chambermaids, as in past years, exceeds the local supply, said Dougherty. Requirements of age and availability throughout the Fall season severely limit the use of the large supply of school and college students.

The shortage of waiters and waitresses which has plagued this industry for years is being met partially by instituting short, intensive training courses in these occupations.

The first class of 17 completed a course given by the Department of Public Instruction at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College. Dr. Frank P. Maguire, district manager for PSES, instituted the course.

Class Of '42, SHS Holds Reunion

The class of 1942, Stroudsburg High School, met among a profusion of red roses, their class flower, for their 15th year reunion at the Fernwood on Saturday night with 50 class members and their guests making up the 92 present.

Each class member received a red rose and the centerpiece of red roses was presented to Mrs. Thomas Shiffer.

William Marsh, class president, served as toastmaster. Guests included the class's senior advisors, Miss Lillian Stark and Jack MacDonough with Mrs. MacDonough. Mrs. Olivette Bennett Farrell won the prize for having traveled the greatest distance; Mr. and Mrs. William Marsh for being the most newly married couple; Ray Lespine for having the youngest baby; Tom Shiffer for having lost the most hair, (a prize he offered to share with Dick MacDonough).

A special prize was awarded to Gladys Rinker Serfass for living up to the class prophecy. Dancing and plans for their 20th reunion marked the party, which had been arranged by Virginia Gereck, class secretary; Carolyn Gehris, Lole Merola, Lorraine Bolear, Gladys Serfass, Alice Reish, Tom Shiffer, Ernest Christian, Robert Widmer and Lorraine Cruise.

Just Between Us

Underlying all these reunion stories, telling about the wonderful time they had, there is always a certain note of surprise. Having gone through the same pre-reunion misgivings, I can appreciate how universal the feeling is.

Yet, why we should be so doubtful, I don't know. The people we enjoyed once are still the same people, older, bolder, fatter or thinner, louder or more sedate, but basically the same and the qualities we admired in them then are usually even more evident now.

Speaking of surprises, a lot of the women playing—at Glen Brook yesterday were surprised to find themselves safely over the creek hole, but the majority of women weren't surprised at all to find themselves right in the middle of the creek.

Which looked very tempting. I must say. Unrestrained by caution and the presence of the foursome in back, there would

Women Work For Carnival At Dingman's

Dingman's Ferry — The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Delaware Township Fire Company went into high gear in preparation for their second Gala Carnival. Improving on last year's affair, which drew more than 1,500 persons to the Dingman's Ferry School Grounds, the firemen and ladies have planned for three nights of entertainment and fun on July 4, 5 and 6.

Starting at 6:30 p.m., special events and contests have been planned for each night with a Pet Turtle Derby for the youngsters being held every night so no child need miss this event.

More than 23 booths are now being painted and wired. Particular attention has been paid to the Handwork Booth for which the women have been working all winter. At the June meeting of the Auxiliary literally dozens of assorted handmade articles were displayed, including little girls' bonnet and bag sets, toddlers' sun suits, plain and fancy aprons, pin cushions, earrings, stuffed toys, decorative dolls, flower corsages, hand-painted trays and numerous other original and unusual items.

Other booths planned for this three night spectacle will feature potted plants, many in unusual containers, dolls and doll clothes, jewelry. Whispers of a mysterious "For Men Only" Booth could not be confirmed. All members of the Auxiliary were signed up for their food specialties to insure food for the cafeteria suppers which will be served each night of the carnival.

Climaxing the three-night Carnival will be display of fireworks. Several set pieces and more than forty star shells, aerial serpents, roman candles and whistling bombs will bring this Gala to a grand conclusion.

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

Wonder if Magda Schroeder thought I acted a bit strained when she telephoned our cosmetic department yesterday afternoon and I answered? If she did, she was right—it was all I could do to get a squeak out of this stubborn throat of mine. Some people sound sultry and exciting when they have laryngitis. I simply sound like a teen-age boy whose voice is changing...

Magda's call, incidentally, had to do with whether or not we carry Revlon Suncan for sensitive skins. If you are wondering the same thing, the answer is YES, we do... Among our Tuesday afternoon shoppers were Mrs. Weston Fenner and daughter, Shirley, who were proudly telling their friends about the latter's brand new daughter, Melissa. Shirley, one of the most attractive young matrons of our acquaintance, was selecting lipstick and matching nail polish, and her choice was the delightful new Revlon shade, "Persian Melon." Lipstick is 1.35; plain polish, 60c and frosted, 75c. It's a magnificent color—with one of the most invigorating names of summer. Real cool!...

Wonder if I've mentioned the cute gold and glass cabinet that displays Little Lady cosmetics in Pearl Walters' department? I probably have—but it's such a cute addition to the counter arrangement, there's no good reason not to mention it again...

Remember the movie, "Written on the Wind"? I'm curious to know if the title suggested to Bourjois the name for its new summer cologne, "On the Wind." Bourjois, creator of "Evening in Paris," has three summer fragrances, the other two being "Spice 'n Ice" and "Frosty Mist." The six-ounce bottles seem very large, and are most attractive. The price is sensibly set at 1.00 within reach of every purse. Wind, Ice and Mist—three wonderfully refreshing words for days, when the mercury hovers near the baking temperature for pizza pie... I don't know how YOU feel about it, but I have an irresistible urge to perch under every swirling spray I find on anyone's lawn these days.

It would probably be more fun than a dip in the pool... Which reminds me that everyone can have a pool right in his own back yard this year. Pete Wyckoff is offering a plastic beauty eight feet around and 17 inches deep for only 15.95 during our June Junco Sale. This is a saving of 4.00. Also on sale are pools 10 feet around and 21" deep, usually priced at 29.95 and June Junco Sale—priced at 24.95. Who couldn't LIVE in one of these pools this summer? I'd even take my naps in one. What a wonderful way to be "Asleep in the Deep"... It isn't often there are two sons named Peter in one family, and that both are artists. But such is the case in the family of writers Lester and Diana Cohen, whose sons, Peter Cohen and Peter Heinemann, are very gifted young men. A note from Diana advises me that their work will be exhibited at the Art Gallery City tonight. Many of us had the opportunity of meeting young Peter Cohen, his wife, and children recently when open house was held in their honor at the Cohen home, and are looking forward to seeing them once again. Leonard Randolph of The Record will open the exhibit with a lecture at 7:30... Our Spice Islands demonstrators very frequently run into misfortune in this section. A few summers ago Helen Samuels was hurried away when nature went on a bit of a tear. And Mrs. Wiese had barely set up her display here the other morning when she was summoned to Nanticoke by a death in the family. She's back now, however, and the demonstration will continue as planned. One of the comparatively new Spice Islands items being served this year is the chicken stock. This sells for only 60c a jar, and it makes the most delicious broth and gravy you could imagine. Sip it from a paper cup next time you visit Wyckoff's. You'll be thrilled by the flavor, and pleased to know how quickly you can serve such a delicious, nutritious food in your own home... Talk about a gentleman of distinction! All of the class of '32 from Stroudsburg High School encountered one last Saturday evening when Clifford Bush and his pretty wife came from New York to join the dinner party at Coral Reef in Tannersville. Clifford, a real estate broker in Manhattan, is gray at the temples and has a dashing mustache—a remarkable change since the days of knickers.

SABBATH SCHOOL and church leaders of the Stroudsburg Seventh-day Adventist church, West Main St., are laying plans this week for local participation at the 47th annual Bible Conference and camp meeting of East Pennsylvania Seventh-day Adventists at Wescosville, near Allentown yesterday through July 6.

Mr. G. M. Freeman, superintendent of the local Sabbath school, said that local members will participate in the two Sabbath school sessions at the wooded convention site on Saturday and July 6.

"Our members will transfer their regular Saturday program to this great religious convention," Mrs. Freeman said. "Our offerings will be given there and officials of our Sabbath school will function there as asked."

Clifford K. Okuno, lay elder of the local church, said that worship services for local members would also be conducted at the Wescosville camp site for the next two Saturdays. He indicated that members will hear top church officials at the two worship services.

"This is the most looked-for religious occasion of the church," he said, speaking of the coming convention. "Members will hear spiritual messages from outstanding church officials, fellowship with other Adventists throughout eastern Pennsylvania, and will re-emphasize the spiritual direction of their lives."

Directing the party will be T. Edgar Unruh of Reading, president of the East Pennsylvania Conference of Adventists. Outstanding denominational officials will participate in the program throughout the week.

U.S. Steel Corporation Ups Prices

PITTSBURGH, June 27 (AP)—U.S. Steel Corp. producer of nearly one-third of the nation's steel, today announced an increase in prices of approximately $6 a ton. The increase is effective July 1.

The steel firm, biggest in the world, said the price increase is necessary because of increases in wages and benefits that will become effective for many of its employees on the same date under terms of a three-year contract signed a year ago with the United Steel Workers.

Other steel producers in the nation are expected to announce similar price increases very soon.

U.S. Steel President Clifford F. Hood said in a statement that the increase will amount to about three-tenths of a cent a pound and will bring the average of U.S. Steel's carbon and alloy steel prices to about 7 1/2 cents per pound.

Philadelphia Eggs

PHILADELPHIA, June 27 (AP)—Eggs: Barely steady. Receipts 4,000. Wholesale selling prices are as follows: Minimum 10 per cent AA quality large whites 37-39; brown 37-38; medium whites 28-29.

Aircrafts Set Pace On Stock Market

NEW YORK, June 27 (AP)—Aircrafts, helped by steel, paced a late rally which pulled an irregular stock market well to the upside on average today.

Pivotal stocks rose from fractions to around two points. Specialties were up as much as 4 points or so.

Volume dropped to 1,800,000 shares compared with 1,870,000 yesterday, the lightest since April 1.

The estimated rise in quoted values of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange was $1,240,000,000.

Rails made unusual progress, posting one of their better gains of the year on average.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced $1.00 to $182.00 with the industrials up $1.20, the rails up $1.40 and the utilities up 40 cents.

The issues traded fell in number to 1,135 from 1,162 yesterday. Gains outnumbered losses by only 447 to 425. There were 75 new lows for the year and 20 new highs. Of the 15 most active stocks, nine rose, five fell and one was unchanged.

Curtiss-Wright headed the most active list, up 1 1/2 at 42 1/2 on 26,500 shares.

Engine Works Hands Line Material 1st Loss 3-0

IBW Edges Ronson, 6-5, Gains Tie For 2nd Place

ENGINE WORKS pinned the first defeat on Line Material in the Babe Ruth League last night, blanking the league's pace-setters, 3-0 at Gordon Giffels Field.

In another loop duel last night at East Stroudsburg playground, International Boiler Works moved into a tie for second place by squeezing Ronson, 6-5.

Carson pitched Engine Works to the big win over LM, setting down the league leaders with four hits. Ladies and Norm Fish collaborated on the hill for the losers and were touched

For only one safety. But wildness on the part of Ladies opened the door for Engine Works runs.

Line Material's Devito, however, led the game's hitters with two baseknocks.

Good in Relief

A. Plattenburg's relief pitching in the last four innings sparked IBW past Ronson. Plattenburg relieved Jim Somers in the second inning and ran into trouble in the third when Ronson scored four times. But from then on he held the Lighters scoreless.

Leo Fralley went the distance for Ronson and took the loss.

D. Wright of IBW was the tilt's top hitter with two-for-four.

Manager Frank Radler's Strouds, with its fine defense showing well at times, provided the onlookers with more than a few sparkling plays. Petersburg, with its lineup dotted more than half with ex-minors, saguara, pin-pointed what a team with a big stick can do.

The outcome was as uncertain as the final score noted. 4. This type of contest could ropel the Strouds to bigger and better things on the exhibition front.

We sort of got the feeling that the fans liked it. There is no other way of informing the public of your product than by Mr. and Mrs. John Q. Could be that the few who watched Wednesday's tilt are doing just that today.

BILL BOOTH'S three-run homer in the second inning propelled Nebel's Market to a 6-3 win over Al Bessecker's Diner in a first round Monroe County Softball Tournament game at the Stroudsburg playground last night.

Booth's blast shot the Marketmen into a 6-1 lead. This held up as Johnny Heckman four-hitted the Diner over the route.

Chet Lucki and Steve Balick combined hill chores for the losers, with Balick more effective, allowing only one hit the last five and two-third innings.

Ike Hinesline led the Nebel attack with two hits, while Russ Bergman garnered two of the quartet accumulated by Bessecker's.

Patterson Working Hard At Greenwood Lake Camp

Special To Daily Record

GREENWOOD LAKE, N. Y.—The Long Pond Inn, here at picturesque Greenwood Lake, N. Y., rightfully named the "Training Camp of Champions" is now seething with vacationists and hundreds of visitors come daily to watch Floyd Patterson, the world's heavyweight champion, in his workouts.

Patterson, first man ever to win the richest prize in fistiana at 21, is now in full swing of preparation for his first championship defense when he meets Tommy "Hurricane" Jackson, of Far Rockaway, in a scheduled fifteen round battle which Promoter Emil Lence will present at the Polo Grounds on the night of Monday, July 26. Unassuming and retiring Patterson, who astounded the boxing world with a 5-round kayo last November 30 over Archie Moore in the Chicago Stadium, which won for him the coveted laurels as successor to Rocky Marciano's crown, virtually has his staff completed. . . . Now and then a switch of spar mates, as required, will be the only change.

Cus D'Amato, able mentor of the champ who never overlooks a single feature, moves in and out of Greenwood Lake as he finds necessary. Floyd, who long ago was sold on Greenwood Lake as a training ground, again finds himself surrounded by the famed trainer, Dan Florio, and his long-time friend, Buster Watson, for whom the champ was bag carrier when he was a youngster.

Three Spar Mates
This famous resort is ideal for morning runs and for the numerous walks that Patterson takes late in the afternoon after dinner. Already there are three outstanding members of the fistic fraternity in the camp to act as spar mates. Howie Turner, 205-pound Brooklynite, who has met many of the best, including Zora Folley and Wayne Bethea, was the first to be assigned to the camp by Manager D'Amato. Then came another in Shirley Pemberton, the Philadelphia, a 160-pounder, who boxed a six-year draw with Jackson several years ago and has clashed with Clarence Henry, Billy Smith and others. Another arrival was Jeff (Ivory) Dyer, 210 pounder from Springfield, Mass., who this year boxed, among others, men like Bob Baker and Wayne Bethea. Jerry Holman, 170 pounder from Brooklyn, makes it a quartette.

D'Amato has always believed that the best way to condition a champion for a big fight is with real competition and proof is the great lineup already made, for it would be hard to find better sparmates anywhere than Turner, Pemberton, Holman and Dyer.

Career Boy Set For $100,000 Run

ATLANTIC CITY — Career Boy, champion grass horse of 1956, is being readied for the racing wars with an eye on an invitation to the Atlantic City Handicap, the nation's only $100,000 event for thoroughbreds of three years and older during the month of August.

From trainer Syl Veitch comes word that the Phalanx-Swanky colt is doing nicely and that owner C. V. Whitey will be on hand to watch him in his first outing of the year at Belmont Park July 4, in the Suburban Handicap. His recent handy mile work in 1:40.3 indicates that he is once again rounding into the form that brought him some $122,000 in winnings last year.

WIMBLEDON, England, June 27 (AP)—The future for ladies tennis wear lies in paper pants, said Col. Teddy Tilling, the world's foremost designer of female tennis outfits.

Fellencer Grabs Pin Lead

Local Kegler Handicap Pacesetter

CANADENSIS — Bob Fellencer, a one day a week bowler, zoomed into the lead in the Handicap Division of the Pocono Mountain Bowling Tournament last Tuesday night by cracking out an 879.

Fellencer, of Stroudsburg, worked on a 153-pin handicap and posted scores of 178, 187, 151 and 210 to get his total which topped former leader John Buda of Hazleton who had led with 866.

Lozes This Week
Bob bowls during the regular season with CLU in the County League.

The richest tournament in the state winds up activity this weekend when Junie McMahon of New Jersey heads a 150-kegler field in an assault on prizes in the handicap and scratch units.

The classic, promoted by Arch Dally, owner of the Barrett Bowling Center, has been running for the past two months.

Yanks Gain 4th Round

WIMBLEDON, England, June 27 (AP)—Two aging ex-champions, Vic Seixas and Budge Patty, and the top-seeded woman, Althea Gibson, spearheaded the advance of ten Americans today into the fourth round of the Wimbledon Tennis Championships.

At the end of the fourth day of this historical spectacle, played under a sweltering sun before 25,000, 4 Yankee men and 6 women were safely lodged in the round of 16.

However, Australia's powerful male contingent, led by defending champion Lew Hoad and Ashley Cooper, continued to dominate. Seven Aussies advanced in the men's division.

3-Day Feature At Monmouth

OCEANPORT, N. J.—Monmouth Park will mark the Fourth of July holiday with a three-day spurge of racing fireworks with stakes events scheduled Thursday, Friday and Saturday. A wide variety of action is offered, with two-year-old colts and geldings going in the Tyro on Thursday, grass performers clashing in the Long-fellow Handicap Friday and fillies and mares scheduled to battle it out in Saturday's Molly Pitcher Handicap.

Buhl Tames Dodgers, 2-1

MILWAUKEE, June 27 (AP)—Fireballer Bob Buhl, the Milwaukee Braves' leading Dodger-tamer, tossed a four-hitter today to get a 2-1 decision over Brooklyn, thanks to a two-run eighth inning triple by Hammering Henry Aaron.

Buhl, with a five-game winning streak going and a 9-2 over-all record, bested Don Drysdale in an air-tight pitching battle before 34,281 fans at County Stadium. The victory gave Milwaukee the rubber game of the three-game series. Both pitchers twirled shutout ball for seven frames. In the last of the eighth Drysdale got into trouble by walking the light hitting Buhl, his first pass of the game. An error by shortstop Charley Neal on an apparent double play grounder by Bruton set the stage for Aaron's three-bagger to the rightfield fence which drove in both of the Braves' runs. Sandy Koufax went to the mound and struck out the side.

The Brooks leveled off on Buhl in the ninth with line drive singles by Gil Hodges and Gino Cimoli and scored a run on a tap by Carl Furillo that Buhl deflected to second baseman Felix Mantilla for a play at first.

Buhl then buckled down and retired the side, ending the game by fanning pinch hitter Sandy Amoros.

Early Wynn Blanks Yanks On Four Hits; Whiffs 9

NEW YORK, June 27 (AP)—Early Wynn, 37-year-old Cleveland righthander, shut out the New York Yankees for the first time this season today, 2-0, beating Tommy Byrne with a four-hitter. It was the first time the Yanks had been blanked in regular season play since last September 26 when Charlie Beamon of Baltimore did the trick. Of course, Clem Labine of Brooklyn, shut them out in the World Series in 10 innings 1-0. Every other club in the majors had been blanked at least once.

Wynn struck out nine and walked two in a brilliant performance for his 10th victory. He is the workhorse of the league with 130 innings because of the epidemic of injuries on the Cleveland staff.

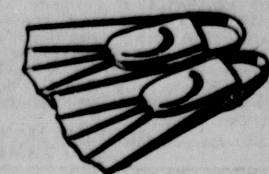

Cleveland's first score came without a hit in the first inning. A fourth ball to leadoff man Al Smith was a wild pitch and Smith went all the way to second. Smith moved to third on Larry Raines' fly and scored on Vic Wertz' infield out.
